بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ
فَأَقِمْ وَجْهَكَ لِلدِّينِ حَنِيفًا فِطْرَتَ اللَّهِ الَّتِي فَطَرَ النَّاسَ عَلَيْهَا
لَا تَبْدِيلَ لِخَلْقِ اللَّهِ.
قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ:
مَا مِنْ أَحَدٍ يَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ إِلَّا
حَرَمَهُ اللَّهُ عَلَى النَّارِ صِدْقًا مِنْ قَلْبِهِ.

RELIGION AND LIFE

Dear Muslims, humans consist of both body and soul, matter and spirit. To be truly happy, it is not enough to only meet material needs; spiritual needs must also be fulfilled. Just as eating, drinking, sheltering, and resting are necessary for humans, so are believing, turning to a supreme being, loving, being loved, elevating the soul, and controlling selfish desires. The correct way to meet these needs is by adhering to the true religion, Islam. Respected Muslims, religion guides people and encourages them to do good and beneficial things. It helps in the development of morality and law, ensuring that people act justly and do not wrong anyone. Religion ensures that natural needs are met through lawful and legitimate means and helps control selfish desires. Valued Muslims, religion saves people from greed and makes them content. It provides solace in the face of loneliness, helplessness, illness, and disasters encountered in daily life. No matter how much a person meets their material needs, if they do not satisfy their spiritual needs through religion, achieving inner peace is very difficult.
